A fundraising allegation reaches the media

Fictional exercise material. Public participant information only. These documents support preparation; they do not establish live application voting rules or reveal future events.

Harbour Lantern Community Fund

T02-ORG

Fictional organization for software testing. The organization raises money for community meal programs. For this fixture, Jeff is treasurer and also owns Bright Print, a commercial supplier. This declared relationship is fictional.

Exercise governance rules

T02-GOV:GOV-1

The common three-person rules apply.

T02-GOV:GOV-2

Jeff must not vote on or approve decisions concerning Bright Print or the review of its transactions. Arjun and Ricardo can provide the two eligible votes.

T02-GOV:GOV-3

Relevant contracts, invoices and approval records must be preserved. A reviewer without the supplier conflict may be appointed.

Approved campaign wording

T02-CAMPAIGN:CAMPAIGN-1

Net proceeds, after event costs, support meal programs.

T02-CAMPAIGN:CAMPAIGN-2

The approved campaign does not promise that all gross ticket revenue is donated directly to meal programs.

Communication procedure

T02-COMMS:COMMS-1

The board designates a spokesperson.

T02-COMMS:COMMS-2

Statements separate verified facts from allegations, identify what is being checked and provide a next-update time.

T02-COMMS:COMMS-3

Do not disclose private donor records in a public reply.

Facts and exercise rules

Journalist's opening inquiry

T02-QUERY:QUERY-1

A journalist asks whether ticket money was paid to a board member's company. The inquiry includes a social-media image claiming that every dollar would go directly to meals.

T02-QUERY:QUERY-2

Authenticity and context of the image are not yet verified.

Shared participant instructions

1. Three human roles: Arjun = chair; Jeff = treasurer; Ricardo = service-continuity board member. Replace display names as needed while keeping stable participant IDs.

2. A board action needs two explicit affirmative votes from eligible, non-conflicted members and a chair confirmation in the application.

3. A conflicted participant may supply requested facts but cannot vote on or approve the matter involving their conflict.

4. The chair has one vote and no special tiebreak power in these fixtures.

5. A participant's proposal or verbal assent is evidence for a draft. The server records the actual votes and authorized confirmation.

6. "By exercise minute 7" is a scenario deadline; it is not a legal or insurance deadline.

7. Unknown information stays unknown. Requests outside the authored scenario receive "That information is not available in this exercise" and can be recorded for follow-up.

8. Real sources are preparation/reference material. Only released fictional documents and events establish facts about the simulated organization.

9. No fixture needs emotion prediction. The climate observer can respond to explicit requests for clarification or a pause.

Reference scope: this is a preparation pack, not a fully implemented timed scenario. Unknowns remain unknown. Use page numbers and clause IDs when citing evidence.
